Solid White

If you're looking for most Popular, this is it! The most popular inside edge profile, outside edge profile and finish. After you show your customers all the doors in your collection, this is most likely the one they'll pick. This White Shaker trend continues to dominate, and it's an easy, "safe" pick.

BONUS: Our Solid White paint is less expensive than other paints, so it's also a bonus for tighter budgets.

Solid Gray

When you want more detail than the popular trends offer, this door adds an elegant detail inside the frame of the door, giving more flavor to the design. And when paired with the Solid Gray color, this makes for a richer kitchen while still allowing it to have a brighter feel.

Hard Maple
Cherry (stain)

With a blend of Craftsman and Farmhouse design styles, this door is consistently one of our top 10 best sellers, and the Cherry stain on Hard Maple is a winning combination. Hard Maple is our most popular species for stained finishes.

Note: You have the option of choosing "Select White Maple," which is the same species, but is selected for more consistent color.

French Roast

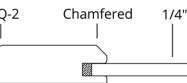

The PRO-COR-SE door gives the Modern Kitchen trend a strong foothold among Shaker and Classic design trends. This door has our Solid Edge (-SE) which is up to 2mm thick and allows us to give it a soft roundover on all sides. French Roast pairs beautifully with the graining and color of the Cherry veneer.

BONUS: PRO-COR doors feature lower design and finishing costs. The door is made from a combination-core material that boasts a plywood core for strength and stability and two outer plies of MDF for a smooth finishing surface.

White Satin

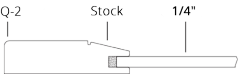

This ageless door design that dates back hundreds of years for use in furniture and entranceway doors, has recently made its way into the kitchen. A truly timeless, elegant design that looks beautiful across all wood species and finishes. This door features our third most popular finish and a 7/16" thick Superior Green (MDF) center panel for a heavier feel and greater stability.
